NORTH KOREAN CAPITAL TARGET OF ATTACK

650 PLANES IN SMASH ON RED CENTERS

By The Associated Press
Seoul, Korea (AP)—At least 650 warplanes from five Allied nations rumbled the North Korean capital and smashed two other North Korean industrial centers today in one of the most devastating raids of the Korean War.

The U. S. Air Force said in mid-afternoon the continuing raid "was well on the way to being the biggest air strike of the war."

United Nations pilots reported they destroyed or damaged the Communists' army communications headquarters, three munitions factories and numerous other factories, and supply and troop centers in Pyongyang, the capital.

The Red capital was left in flames and rubble, AP correspondent Stan Carter said after a flight over the target area.

American, British, Australian, South African and South Korean planes from land and carrier bases also smashed Hwangju and Sariwon in Western Korea, 25 and 35 miles south of Pyongyang. They are important centers on the rail

Eisenhower Clan Is Gathering in Chicago

Chicago (AP)—A man today approached the outer guard in the corridor that leads to the suite of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the Blackstone Hotel.

The guard stopped the stranger and asked "are you one of the members of the Louisiana delegation?"

"Heck, no, I'm Ed Eisenhower from Tacoma and I'm looking for my brother," the newcomer replied.

Edgar Eisenhower was admitted at once. Two other brothers of the general also are here—Earl of Charlevoix, Mich., and Milton, president of Pennsylvania State College.

Jilted Officer Kills Girl and Two Guards Before Suiciding

Houston, Tex. (AP)—A jilted Air Force officer killed his sweetheart, two hospital guards and himself at a nurses home here last night as screaming nurses watched.

The orgy of blood and gunfire occurred on the second floor of Memorial Hospital's nursing home—where men are not allowed.

The officer—Capt. Renard Haywood of Ellington Air Force Base near here—had forced his way at pistol point into the nurses' sanctuary.

Besides the 34-year-old Haywood, the dead are:

Carroll Cooper, 24, pretty junior nursing student from Culman, Ala.

Robert Peterson, 64, guard, Houston.

J. C. Fair, 69, guard, Houston.

A nurse eyewitness, Sue Grantham, 19, said Peterson was killed instantly and that Fair lived only a few minutes after Haywood shot them down as they ran to the aid of Miss Cooper.

After shooting the two guards, Haywood barricaded himself and Miss Cooper in her room where he had forced her, waving a German Luger pistol in the air.

As hastily summoned police entered the room, the nurses said, two more shots were fired. Haywood shot the girl in the head and then turned the pistol to his own temple.

The half dozen student nurses who saw the shootings told newspaper reporters that Miss Cooper refused several months ago to see Captain Haywood any more.

Protesting Widow Evicted by Sheriff

Lapeer, Mich. (AP)—A sheriff's raiding party, aided by a 60-man state police blockade, today evicted an angry and protesting widow from her long embattled farm.

Returning to the scene where 39 days ago he was mauled by angry neighbors of the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, Sheriff Clark Gregory led 12 special deputies in the early morning sortie.

Behind him blocking all roads in the area, were 60 state police with orders from Gov. G. Mennen Williams to see that the law was enforced and prevent bloodshed.

The 20-car raiding party apparently caught the farmers, battlers in a 17-year-old insurance fight, by surprise. The raiders forced their way into the home and carried out the furniture.

Mrs. Stevens, 60-year-old mother of nine children, sitting tensely in her living room, told the sheriff, "You leave this house. It is my house. This is my country and I am an American."

Last-Minute Plea for Stubborn Floor Fight Is Made by Taft

Chicago (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, making a last minute plea for a stubborn floor fight for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination, told his committed delegates today that he expects victory as early as the second ballot.

Taft said supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "were shooting for a first ballot victory and if they don't get it, Eisenhower is through."

The Ohio senator spoke briefly at a rally of the Taft's delegates club in the Conrad Hilton Hotel a few minutes before they moved toward the convention.

"We have an excellent chance to win today," Taft declared.

"We had 40 votes stolen by the convention in a outrageous action as I have ever seen..."

Taft said Eisenhower could get no more than 560 votes at his peak strength (604 are needed to win). He estimated his own strength on the first ballot at about 535 votes.

He said today's convention voting was purely a matter of floor maneuvering because "we have more than a majority of the votes on this convention."

Taft Campaign Manager David S. Ingalls directed his fire, not at Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, but at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

He distributed a statement printed in heavy type headed "Sink Dewey!"

In today's early hours—as delegates roared while names were

279 Employees of United Refining Co. Receive Buttons at Outdoor Ceremony

In a colorful outdoor gathering held yesterday afternoon on the lawn between the office and plant of United Refining Company, 279 employees who have completed five or more years of employment with United were presented gold service buttons. The presentations were part of the celebration of the 50th anniversary of United Refining Company.

Receiving 5 to 10 year awards were 62 employees; 94 fell within the 10 to 15 year group; 57 from 15 to 20 years; 22 from 20 to 25 years; and 36 employees have been with the company from 25 to 30 years. Those receiving recognition for the longest service were: Howard H. Magee, George S. Ayers, Harry W. Schmidt, Ralph E. Brasington and Herbert W. Wagner, each with a record of more than 30 years. Magnus Hübner and George Jerman began with the United in 1917 and have thus completed 35 years. Ernest Ericson, of 14 North Irvine street, is the oldest active employee, being 81 years old. He was given a 25

STEEL STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS ARE REPORTED

Pittsburgh (AP)—Top level secret negotiations in the 40-day old steel strike are underway today in this steel capital.

After their first meeting yesterday, spokesmen for both industry and the CIO steelworkers were tightlipped.

A union source said a second meeting would be held at an unspecified time and place today.

There is every indication that most of the issues of the long strike were discussed at least generally at the first session.

Obviously, the meeting was called to talk over the industry's request to get iron ore production moving again. But a union spokesman, when asked if other issues were taken up, smiled, and said, "You may assume that."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers, and general counsel Arthur Goldberg, head the union team. Among industry leaders present were Vice President John A. Stephens of U. S. Steel; Vice President Joseph Larkin of Bethlehem Steel Corp.; and Ben F. Morell, chairman of the board Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Price Administrator Ellis Arnall indicated the government will answer in several days the latest demand for higher prices from the steel industry.

The Weirton Steel Company at Weirton, W. Va., filed notice July 1 for a $5.50 per ton ceiling hike on its product and unless the Office of Price Stabilization objects (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Coast Pilot Wins Powder Puff Derby

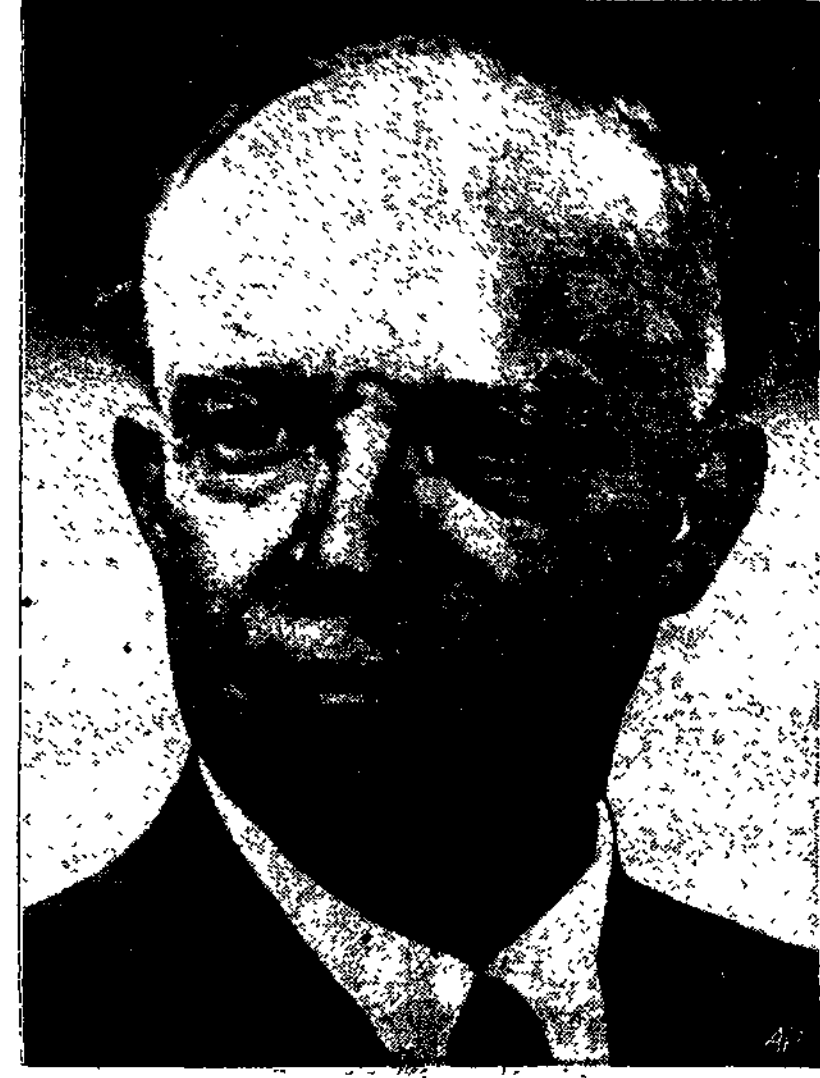

New York (AP)—The winning pilot in the All-Woman Transcontinental Air Race is Shirley A. Block of Long Beach, Calif., who averaged 104 miles an hour in the 2,700-mile cross-country stint.

Only 19 of the 44 powder-puff pilots in the air derby managed to reach Teterboro Airport in New Jersey—the finish line—before the 5 p. m. EST deadline Wednesday.

Miss Block and her co-pilot, Martha R. Baechle, also of Long Beach, made the jaunt in a Cessna 140, a light single-engine plane. They won the $600 first prize.

A total of 44 planes were entered in the derby which had as its starting point Santa Ana, Calif. But 25 of them either were grounded by bad weather or dropped out en route.

Judges picked the winners more on a basis of flying ability than speed. Handicaps also figured in the judging.

Pennsylvania Governor Bolts Up Aisle With Banner for Ike

Chicago (AP)—Pennsylvania's governor grabbed a banner and bolted up the aisle at the front of the Eisenhower demonstration.

Two elderly delegates grabbed Taft banners and paraded shouting and cheering around the hall in support of their favorite.

A dignified lady judge stood at her place in the Pennsylvania section gently waving an Ike banner for nearly an hour.

Men and women who at home would think twice about anything so extroverted as whistling on the street cast custom to the winds, picked up horns, rattles or whatever noisemakers they could lay their hands on and worked them industriously.

Four-Year Program Is Adopted to Drive Dems Out of Office

Chicago (AP)—Weary of name-calling and intra-party feuds, Republicans today had a four-year program with which they hope to drive the Democrats from office.

The official 1952 platform won a roaring shout of approval late yesterday at the Republican convention.

Its plank on civil rights came within a splinter of causing an angry floor fight.

Democrats were quick to chop away at the platform. Early comment from the rival camp included denunciation by Averell Harriman and Estes Kefauver.

The racial questions posed by the civil rights issue had not been settled yesterday even while the 6,000-word platform was up for convention action.

Even as deep-voiced Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Resolutions Committee which drafted the statement of principles, was proudly reading the document, the threat of a civil rights battle hung over the hall.

That it never materialized was a tribute to Millikin, who had worked day and night to produce a plank acceptable to both Northern and Southern Republicans.

A few hours earlier, Harold C. Burton of New York called a strategy huddle of other Negro delegates and alternates to back a stronger civil rights plank. They had a substitute plank ready when they were advised a floor fight probably would be futile.

AUTO-TRAIN CRASH
New Castle (AP)—David H. Welsh, 62, of Wampum, died today in Jamison Memorial Hospital, the victim of an auto-train collision. Welsh's auto crashed into a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train last night at a crossing in nearby Wampum.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE IS GIVEN GREATEST CONVENTION OVATION

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today won the Republican presidential nomination.

In a dramatic climax, to a ding-dong fight with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower crashed through to the GOP accolade on the first ballot.

On the rollcall, Eisenhower first received 595 votes, to 502 for Taft. But before the vote could be announced, Minnesota threw to the general 19 votes it had first given to Harold E. Stassen.

That put Ike across with 614 votes. It took 604 to nominate. Texas and other states which had split their votes then began jumping. It was a landslide in the end.

And this feuding, wrangling 25th Republican Convention pulled itself together into a vociferous show of unity behind the five-star general with a roaring demonstration around and around this big hall hard by the stockyards.

Rep. B. Carroll Reece, southern campaign manager for Taft, said: "Of course I'm going to support the nominee but I feel Eisenhower's managers should apologize to Sen. Taft for their conspiracy to stigmatize him."

The convention floor was in an uproar at that point as state after state rushed to toss its votes on the Eisenhower bandwagon.

Eisenhower himself was not in the hall. As custom dictates, he had waited at his hotel while the convention's rank and file decided who should lead their effort this year to break 20 years of Democratic national rule.

With him waiting for the returns were Mrs. Eisenhower—Mamie to the general—and three grandchildren, David 4, Barbara Ann 3, and Susan, six months. They are children of his son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

The balloting capped a week of maneuver in which Eisenhower's sylvia, an Eisenhower backer, claimed the general had 580 votes and could expect 19 more from an unannounced source. That would put him only five votes away from the 604 needed.

Taft said simply: "I will win the nomination."

G. Mason Owlett, Pennsylvania national committeeman who has been supporting Taft, predicted a convention deadlock.

"After that, anything can happen—I would not rule out any possibility," Owlett said.

IKI VISITS TAFT

A news conference scheduled by General Eisenhower was delayed for quite some minutes this afternoon. Just two minutes before he was to meet newsmen, he quickly left his suite in the Congress Hotel and crossed the street to the Hilton Hotel to call on Senator Robert Taft, whom he defeated for the nomination.

Reporters followed him in droves.

Change Is Planned In Nat'l Committee

Chicago (AP)—The Republican convention names a new and enlarged National Committee tomorrow, marking the end of the equal representation of men and women on the party's governing body.

Election of the new group is one of the last jobs to be done by the GOP National Convention, which yesterday wrote a new set of rules for the committee.

Opposed by some women delegates as discriminatory against their sex, the new rules were approved by a vote of 683 to 513.

Changes from the old regulations were designed to reward states that stay in the Republican ranks and to penalize those that don't get out a sizeable GOP vote.

They make the party's state chairman a full member of the National Committee if his state has a Republican governor, or if it goes Republican in a presidential year. The chairman would lose National Committee membership if his state went Democrat in a statewide election.

Democrats Already Start Attacks On G. O. P. Platform

By The Associated Press
Two Democratic aspirants to the presidency have begun their attacks on the 1952 Republican platform.

Averell Harriman, the mutual security administrator, called it "one of the most unconvincing documents of all time."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee said it gave "wastebasket treatment" to labor's proposals and made the American worker "the forgotten man."

Harriman, campaigning in Michigan, told newsmen yesterday he got a laugh out of the GOP platform assertion that Russia is waiting for the United States to go broke.

Kefauver, after stops in Springfield and Peoria, Ill., flew to Boston yesterday to meet delegates to the Democratic National Convention opening in Chicago July 21. Then he flew back to Illinois.

He predicted he will be nominated on the fifth or sixth ballot and said Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia is likely to be his "most formidable opponent."

Russell said on a television program last night in Washington that he expects to win the Democratic presidential nomination somewhere between the fifth and eighth ballots.

Over 1,500 From Area to Attend Circus July 18th as Guests of Local Companies

It was learned today that over 1,500 residents of Warren and vicinity will be attending either the afternoon or evening performance of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus as guests of their respective companies. "The Greatest Show on Earth" will be at the municipal airport on Friday, July 18, under the auspices of the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Francis Morris and Edward Farynowski, co-chairmen of the Block Ticket Sale division of the Jaycees Circus Committee, were especially pleased over the interest shown in the circus by so many of Warren's major plants and industries. Although several concerns actually purchased blocks of tickets to distribute to their employees, most companies used a certificate method whereby each employee was given one or more gift certificates which were in turn transferable at the Jaycees' circus booth at Kinnears for actual circus tickets of their choice.

The Jaycees, in conjunction with the participating companies, wish to remind those people who have not yet turned in their certificates, that Monday, July 14, is the final day of acceptance for those certificates not already turned in.

much of Interest Taught Boys At Observation Camp

Both L. Myers, writer of the Northwest Sportsman column, has released the following outline of features experienced by those attending the annual Junior Conservation Camp in State College for a thirteen day course that started Monday. Among the group boys from this area are Dennis Brown, Warren, and James Cowan, Youngsville.

On Monday the young men were taught how to survive if lost in the wilds of the forests. During the evening, a representative of the Bureau of Parks held a session. Tuesday was continued survival instruction and in the evening, the Sanitary Water Board held a session for the boys. The department of Forests and Waters took over the program on Wednesday and also half a day today. This included various projects to see the department's business first-hand.

During this afternoon the lads were taught practical first aid and on Friday, they are given instruction by representatives of the U. S. Forestry Service. The U. S. Soil Department takes over the class Saturday.

All boys are required to attend chapel services on Sunday morning and during the afternoon, they are given expert instructions in archery. During the evening they are shown fish and wildlife movies and are permitted various other activities such as fishing, swimming and games.

The College Research Department has the boys all day Monday and on Tuesday, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission takes over. The Pennsylvania Game Commission gives the class all day Wednesday and half a day on Thursday. The afternoon is with the funeral industries, while the evening is taken up by the Brandywine Association with the showing of slides and interesting talks.

On Friday, July 18, the boys bid farewell to the camp directors and the new outdoor friends they have made and head for home. With them goes a lot of information and knowledge about our natural resources which may serve future Pennsylvanians in good stead when needed. And, if ever this state or any other state needed common sense understanding about using the natural resources, it is now.

High in the Himalaya Mountains zoologists have found bees, moths, grasshoppers and butterflies.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Word comes from Lycoming College, Williamsport, that Kenneth Berdine, Warren student on the dean's list for the past three years and graduate there in June with a bachelor of science in retailing, has again placed in the honor group for the spring semester. As an undergraduate, Berdine was active in Zeta Delta Kappa, of which he was president in his junior year; was a member of the Student Government Association, active in intra-murals, and the college newspaper. Last fall he was elected as a candidate to the Congress of American Industry in New York.

CAR OFF ROAD

A car operated by Urban Roza, of Tidoute, was forced off the road about 100 yards west of the Lily Pond crossing on Route 6 yesterday afternoon, and struck a power pole with the result that the pole was broken off and the car suffered about $250 damage. Roza was uninjured. He told state police that an Ohio car, headed west, was making an improper pass at the point, and struck his car, driving it over the embankment at that point. The Ohio car continued on without stopping. State police would be interested in any facts known about the Ohio car by anyone who may have seen it headed west about 2:45 p. m. yesterday.

CREEK DREDGED

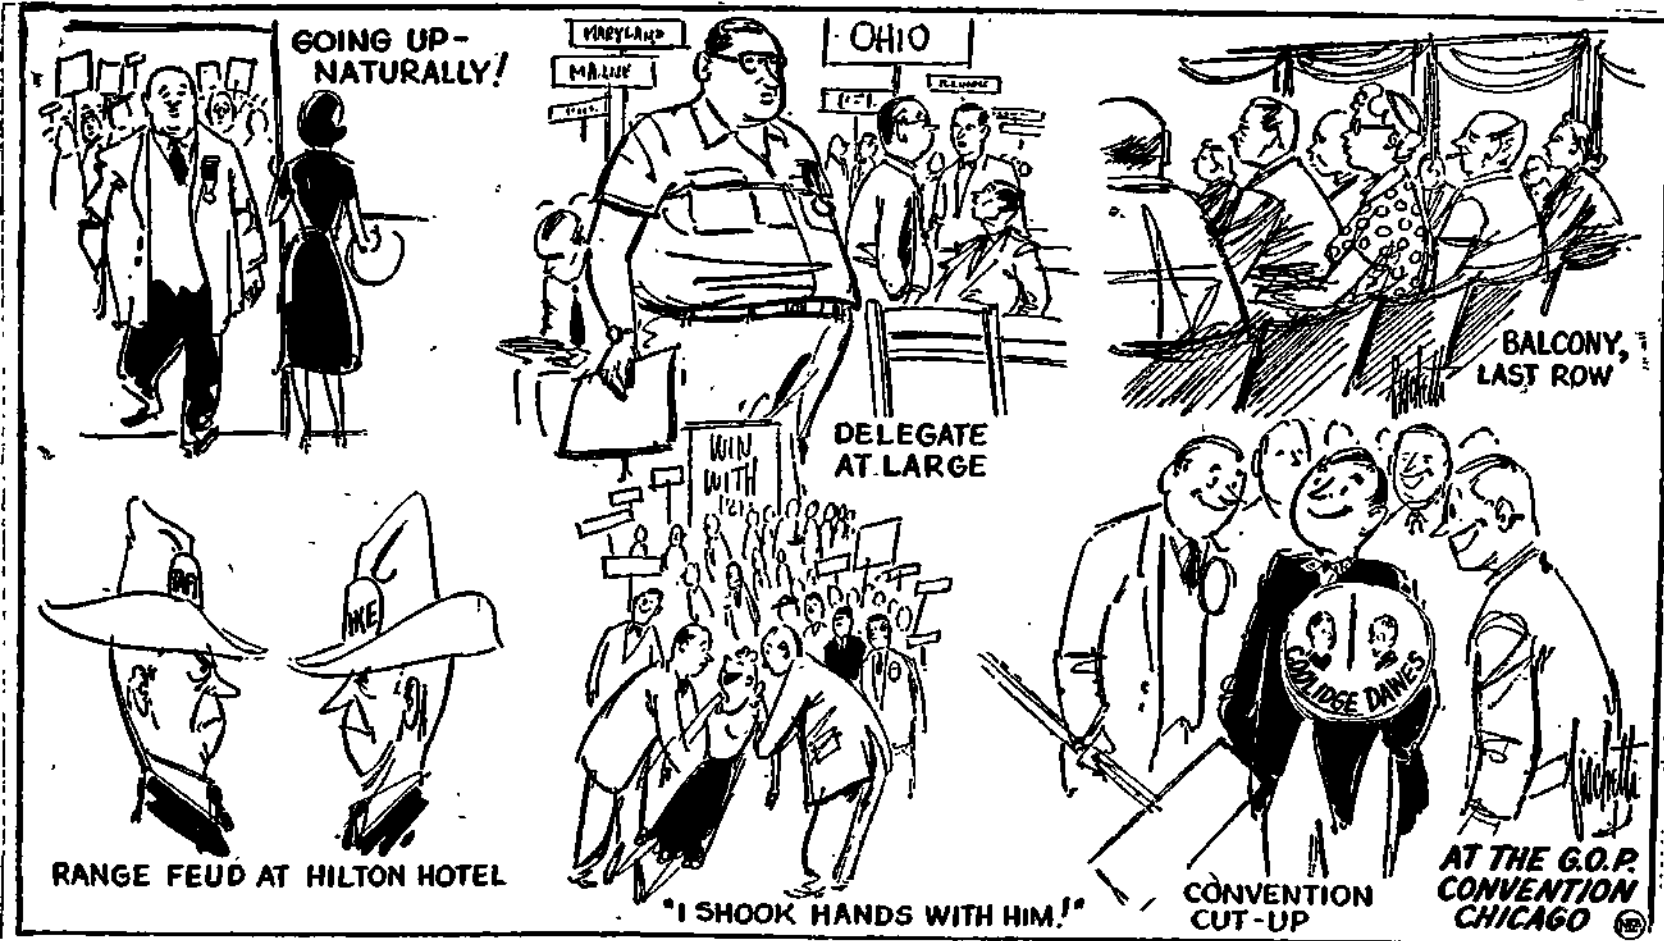

Employees of the National Forge and Ordnance Company, of Irvine, are engaged in dredging the Brokenstraw creek at the rear of the plant, where gravel bars have built up since the widening and deepening project of two years ago. Two bulldozers and drag-line equipment are being used on the job. An extensive project of widening and deepening the creek channel, and the construction of dikes, was completed some time ago by the Commonwealth, the county, and the company, acting jointly for flood protection. It has been planned at some future date to continue the dredging upstream through Youngsville borough.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

According to James Marlow, feature writer for the Associated Press and Times-Mirror, the Republicans closed out an almost incredible week, which was all down-hill for Sen. Taft, when they began balloting today on a presidential candidate.

They came here for the usual routine of pouring fury on the Democrats. They wound up heaping scorn and anger on each other from the moment the convention opened Monday.

And almost unbelievably, the two main candidates, Taft and General Eisenhower, were obscured by issues and events instead of remaining sharp focal points for the convention to choose between.

Which of the two men, Taft or Eisenhower, was personally better fitted for the presidency? The Eisenhower people made the most of the issue, wrapping up morality with the future of the party.

And when the convention assembled and passed on the Southern dispute, Taft suffered smashing defeats. All week the convention was involved with the question of Southern delegates instead of with the candidates.

As defeats piled up on them on the convention floor and they began to realize Taft might once again come off second best, his lieutenants began using tactics which the Eisenhower forces described as the acts of desperate men.

Instead of aiming their guns with whatever ammunition they had, directly at Eisenhower who was the chief antagonist although at the same time a national hero, they tried to undercut him obliquely.

They began attacks on Gov. Dewey, one of Eisenhower's chief supporters and braintrusts. Having been called ruthless themselves, they tried to push the charge back on the Eisenhower camp by using it against Dewey.

Late yesterday Taft headquarters put out a single sheet, newspaper size, which was distributed among the delegates on the eve of the balloting.

"Sink Dewey," the headline said. This was a follow-up of what happened Wednesday night when Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, one of Taft's chief admirers, attacked Dewey personally on the convention floor, trying to ridicule him for twice winning the Republican presidential nomination but losing in the elections.

Below is a bulletin personally handed to all employees of the Sunray Electric and Sunray Products, appealing for donors for the Bloodmobile visit in Warren next Wednesday, July 16th:

Wednesday, July 16th is not only "Red-Letter" day for Sunray Electric and Sunray Products, but it is "red-blooded" day for all their employees!

The Bloodmobile will make its visit to Red Cross Headquarters—404 Market Street, and we have told Red Cross officials that we will have at least 25 donors there on that date.

Won't you please get in touch with "Monty" McClure at once, and tell him that you will be one to help surpass the hoped-for 25. Red Cross Headquarters must know by Wednesday of this week that you will donate.

As previously brought to your attention, the company policy is that you will be paid wages for a period of two hours during the usual period of time required for donating blood.

Remember, some neighbor's boy; yes, even some relative, is "giving blood for you in Korea."

Won't you give just a little of your blood for him here in Warren on July 16th?

Your blood may save a life!

OLD GLORY FLIES WITH NEW LINER

In the days when clipper ships slid down the shipyards and set their courses for the seven seas, America's merchant marine ruled the seas. When the clippers were relegated to limbo by iron ships, our merchant mariners began wallowing in the wake of other nations.

A proud new liner with a proud name—the S. S. United States—has brought back our sea-going glory again. Not since 1851, when the steamer Pacific crossed in nine days, 19 hours and 25 minutes, has an American merchant ship flown the mythical blue ribbon of Atlantic supremacy.

The new liner's speed—35 knots or 41 mph—may not seem fast in this atomic age.

One Down and One to Go

Here And There

In view of the fact that oldtime street railway men and women will be holding the annual reunion at Island Park Sunday it seems appropriate here and at this time to review some of the history of trolley car days.

It was Saturday, November 30, 1928, that the Warren Times-Mirror announced in a first page article "W & J" Trolley Line to Cease Monday night." Excerpts from that article make interesting reading for present-day subscribers. Here are a few:

Reminding that the Warren-Jamestown trolley line will cease operation Monday, the Times-Mirror is in receipt of the schedule for the buses to be operated between the two towns by the West Ridge Transportation Company.

Elaborate arrangements have been made by that company to provide the same efficient service with buses that has been furnished by the trolley cars. Buses that are the last word in rolling stock have been secured and will be in operation Tuesday. They have Cadillac motors and were built with determination to provide comfort and speed.

(Following two paragraphs about bus schedules there was a lengthy review of the construction of the line. Part of which follows:)

Construction of the line connecting Warren with Jamestown was started in 1904 and the first trolley car was operated over the line from Warren to Jamestown September 6, 1905. It was recalled by W. J. Kribill, who has been supervisor of the Warren Street Railway Company for some time, he was the first motorman on that historic trip and Stewart Jenkins was the first conductor. The car was filled with officials of the Warren-Jamestown Street Railway Company and the Warren Street Railway Co., newspaper men and other especially invited guests. It ran directly from North Warren to the Humphrey House in Jamestown, where the event was celebrated with a banquet.

For some years a transfer was made at North Warren, but later it was connected with the North Warren line at Venturatown, since which time the cars have operated into the borough and to the waiting room.

The Warren-Sheffield line was abandoned March 31, 1928; the City Lines, North Warren, Coneywango avenue, October 18, 1930.

It was March 30, 1928, that the Warren Morning Mirror announced in a third page headline: "New busses have admiration on streets here!" The article explained that two large new busses manufactured by the White Motor Company, of Cleveland, which were to operate between Warren and Sheffield, "after the suspension of the trolley service between the two towns March 31, had arrived in Warren and for some time thereafter were on display and inspection on Pennsylvania avenue near the General Joseph Warren Park at Popular street."

It was explained the vehicles were the last word in automotive construction, "and will provide the people of Warren, Sheffield and Kane patrons the best possible service to obtain."

What happened after the abandonment of the trolley lines, the taking up of the rails etc., may make an interesting subject for some future article.

GOP Speakers in Chicago Lack Fresh Approach to Real Issues

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

CHICAGO (NEA)—There's only one place in Chicago where it's possible to get away from all the whoopee and confusion of the Republican National Convention. Go out to the stockyards' amphitheater, mount the platform and start making a speech.

No one will pay the slightest attention. A whole battery of large bore oratorical artillery has been turned loose on the convention in this way with unbelievable lack of interest. Nobody in the galleries or on the floor stopped talking while these speeches were being made.

The impact of these addresses was no doubt equally negative where the words were carried into the home by radio or TV, without interference in getting the dishes washed or the ironing done. It therefore becomes necessary to record for posterity, some place, just what some of the second-string keynoters said.

For instance, nobody would want to miss knowing that Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire said, "We have gathered here in Chicago on a critical occasion in our country's history. This convention is doubly important because it marks a crossroads in the destiny of the Republican Party."

Sen. James P. Kem of Missouri also had an original thought on this subject. He said, "America stands at the crossroads of history."

Gov. HOWARD PYLE of Arizona labored through seven pages of prepared text before he made up his mind on this subject. Finally despairing of saying it in the highly individualistic style of Senators Kem and Bridges, the governor came up with "These are the times that try men's souls," which was an original thought with Tom Paine back in the Revolutionary War.

Governor Pyle had to make one major correction on the prepared advance text of his speech. He had started out to say that the differences between the Democrats and Republicans were now of little consequence, as compared with the differences that exist within the parties. But somebody with a sharp eye caught that one and cut it out.

Senator Bridges, however, devoted most of his speech to the idea that, "The dissension and disunity in our party has encouraged a belief that the Democrats can win. The country is bewildered by the seeming inability of the Republican Party to give evidence of unity and harmony."

If anybody had heard this or paid any attention to it, the utterance might have been regarded as giving aid and comfort to the Democratic Party enemy which comes to town later.

THE most interesting point about the speakers' list for this Republican convention, however, is that it was top-heavy with followers of Senator Taft's line of thinking.

Speeches presenting the known views of General Eisenhower or Gov. Earl Warren of California just weren't heard.

Even Gen. Douglas MacArthur and ex-President Herbert Hoover—to whom the crowds did listen—made campaign speeches for Senator Taft.

Others on the list with similar sentiments included Pat Hurley of New Mexico, Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin and Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington.

This typifies and personifies the cleavage in the Republican Party that Governor Pyle wasn't allowed to talk about but which Senator Bridges did talk about.

The battle between Senator Taft and General Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination is still the battle between Old Guard conservatism and progressivism, or whatever name you wish to give it.

It is the battle of 1944 and 1948 and even 1912, all over again.

Veterinarian for Greatest Show on Earth Writes Interestingly of His Experiences

AUTHOR AND SUBJECT—Dr. J. Y. Henderson, for 11 years chief veterinarian for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, reads a chapter about his troubles with monkeys from his best-selling autobiography CIRCUS DOCTOR to Joe, an orang-utan with the Greatest Show on Earth.

Now that circus time is here again, here's an item that's right in the spirit of the season: Dr. J. Y. Henderson, for 11 years chief veterinarian of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, has converted his experiences into a book, "Circus Doctor."

After years of doing odd little jobs like amputating an alligator's leg, treating a tiger for tumor, manicuring elephants, mending a lion's broken jaw, worming polar bears, mending cheetahs' hind legs, and curing horses and monkeys of every conceivable disease, Doc Henderson didn't run short of material for his book. And because most of his work is done on muddy fields, at railroad sidings, in the pouring rain and often with no illumination but a couple of flashlights, there is plenty of local color besides.

For instance, Doc Henderson earned that a lot of the animals get human ills and that the treatments are also similar to ours. Chimpanzees get ulcers," he says, "and you treat them by careful regulation of diet and by giving the animals plenty of rest and keeping them from getting upset. The big cats get sinus trouble and aspirin helps them exactly the way it helps us. Horses get allergies and they have to be treated both medically and psychologically. We used to have one big white horse who always broke out in big welts from stage fright before going into the arena. So I used to give him a lot of attention and feed him anti-histamines and pretty soon he got over it."

Unlike most circus people Doc was not born into the circus. He was born on a ranch in Texas, studied veterinary medicine at Texas A & M and was practicing in Shreveport, La., when a midnight phone call from John Ringling North invited him to join the circus. For a lot of reasons the offer was very tempting, and for more obvious reasons it was frightening. But Doc took it, revolutionizing the practice of medicine on wild animals, became an expert on the high wire and married high wire queen Martha Walenda.

"Circus Doctor" is really the story of a small town boy's dream come true. But it's also the story of a circus doctor's nightmares and what he does about them.

He got to dread the cry "Hey, Doc!" because whenever that call rang out over the circus grounds, the chief vet was wanted in a hurry and there was no telling how strange the case might be.

AT COLUMBIA THEATRE!—Van Heflin, Helen Hayes and Robert Walker are co-starred in Leo McCarey's "My Son John." Paramount picture today through Monday at the Columbia Theater. This frank and stirring drama was produced, directed and co-authored by McCarey, best known for his brilliant Academy Award film, "Going My Way." On the same bill "Buffalo Bill in Tomahawk Territory" starring Clayton Moore as Buffalo Bill.

she put her arms through the bars of the cage and tried to touch him. The chimp promptly grabbed her hand, but the end of her finger off, and broke what was left of it. Doc treated the wound and put the finger stump in a cast. For years afterward whenever Doc came near her cage she'd put one hand over her eyes and hold out the other hand for Doc to look at.

Gorillas are tough babies in more ways than one. They're a problem and a headache to a veterinarian. Doc met Gargantua as soon as he himself joined the circus. He says that the so-called snarl on Gargantua's face actually was caused by someone throwing a glass of acid in his face when he was a baby. At any rate, Gargantua came to the circus, was ensconced in an air-conditioned, glass-enclosed cage that was always heated to 78 degrees. In 1942 he became ill and Doc diagnosed it as pneumonia.

The vet couldn't get near him, so he had oxygen piped into his cage through the air-conditioning system, and also fed him sulfa in his milk. This cured him, but a year later the gorilla became sick again. To treat him, Doc teased him with a bottle of coke, his favorite drink. When Gargantua's attention was momentarily distracted, the vet quickly switched the bottle. Filled with a coke and castor oil mixture instead. This cured him, all right, but he almost broke the bars of his cage when he discovered he'd been slipped a "mickey."

So when you watch the lions and the bears, the monkeys, the dogs, the ponies, the horses and the menagerie animals in this year's Greatest Show on Earth, give a thought to the man who had to keep the 700 of them healthy and fix them up again when they get sick or injured, Doc Henderson, the Circus Doctor.

First Evangelical United Brethren To Have Anniversary

It is learned from Pastor Charles B. Kinney that First Evangelical United Brethren church is planning to observe its 119th anniversary next Sunday, July 20, with further announcements of the program to be made the first of the week.

At the 10:00 a. m. Sunday school hour this week, delegates who have returned from Findley Lake Bible School will be presenting their reports. "A Kingdom Taken Away" will be the sermon topic at 11:00 a. m., when Organist C. T. Prichard will play "Louise" by Bach and "Meditation" by Diggie; vocalists will be O. R. Fang and Carl A. Peterson.

Activities of the week will include the regular meeting of Win One Class at 7:45 p. m. Monday; postponed meeting of Little Her-alds and Mothers Circle and Ladies Aid at the Crescent playground at 12:00 noon, Wednesday, and through the afternoon. In case of rain, both meeting and program will be held in the church. Mrs. Glenn Marlett will be the leader for the midweek prayer service at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

CARLSON REUNION

Ludlow—The 95 persons attending the Carlson family reunion at DeForest pavilion in Wildcat Park Sunday represented Jamestown, Sugar Grove, Warren, Kane, Ludlow; Falconer, N. Y., and Bergenfield, N. J. Harold Carlson of Sugar Grove, was elected to succeed Larry Erickson, Jamestown, as president; Irene Eckstrom, Ludlow, was chosen secretary-treasurer; with E. H. Stahlman, Falconer, retiring. Announcement was made the next gathering will be held at the same site. The program included harmonica and guitar music by Darold and Doyle Carlson, Sugar Grove, in addition to group singing.

LANDER CLUB

President Joan Mahan was in charge of the meeting of Lander 4-H girls, held in the Grange hall. Secretary Marilyn Rickerson read minutes of the last session and gave the roll call, members responding with the name of their favorite tree. The meeting was then turned over to the leaders who gave a lesson on flower arrangement, and the girls made candy. The next meeting is scheduled for July 22 in the Grange hall.

RUSSELL MEETING

Russell 4-H Club girls held their regular meeting Wednesday at the Methodist church, with two mothers and a child as special guests. Members voted to name their group The Nimble Thimble Club, and started work on their skirts.

HALE AUXILIARY

Akeley—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Hale Cemetery Association will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson on Thursday, July 31. Dinner will be served at noon and everyone is welcome.

MRS. HARRY WILLIAM MAYNARD

Baskets of white glads, asters and snapdragons, with palms and white tapers in candelabra, formed a beautiful setting in First Methodist church for the July 9th wedding of Nehema Massel Glassman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Glassman, 307 Fourth avenue, and Harry William Maynard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Niles Maynard, Newark, N. Y.

The double ring service was read at 3:30 p. m. by the Rev. Wayne Furman, Jamestown, N. Y., former pastor of the church, and Jean Robertson was at the organ.

Choosing a white floor length gown of pure silk bombazine and carrying a small cascade arrangement of camellia-flowered begonias and stephanotis, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned with V-neckline and short sleeves and her veil of French illusion fell shoulder-length from a pleated bombazine cap.

Her matron of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Watson Parker, Hill City, S. D., wearing light melon green organza, ballerina length, with a cap fashioned of yellow delphinium. Her flowers were camellia-flowered begonias and yellow delphinium in a matching shade.

Harold Stiles, Newark, was best man for Mr. Maynard and ushers were David Glassman, brother of the bride, and Dr. Norman Morgan, North Warren.

Mrs. Glassman chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue pure silk frock, matching accessories and a pink flowered hat. The reception followed in the Glassman home from four until six o'clock, the guest list of 125 included relatives and friends from St. Marys, Philipsburg, Pittsburgh, Tionesta, Newark, Jamestown, and New York City; Hill City, S. D. Spring and summer flowers were used throughout the house and in the garden in an attractive summertime scene.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a gray dress with white pique trim, black accessories, white pique hat, and corsage of red carnations. After July 21, the newlyweds will live in Chicago, where both are employed.

Mrs. Maynard attended Warren High School and was graduated from University of Chicago in 1951 with a master of science degree in botany. She is employed at the University of Illinois Medical Center, in the department of oral pathology, and was honored with a number of showers before coming east.

Veteran of five years' service as navigator and first lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force in World War II, Mr. Maynard holds a master's degree in meteorology from University of Chicago, Class of 1952, and is employed in the university's department of meteorology.

MOLDABLE

Terra cotta is a hard-baked clay or earthenware, which differs from brick in being harder, of better quality, and molded to some special form of ornament.

ACTRESS PICKS ROUND-THE-CLOCK WEAR

For her own summer wardrobe, actress Jane Wyman has chosen these fashions, all by California designers. She wears (left) a late-day dress in lace with low-cut, wide neckline, brief sleeves and full, stiffened skirt. Circus theme is borrowed (center) for striped pink, white and charcoal organdie blouse worn with charcoal grey skirt in glazed cotton. Skirt has a high rising band that buttons in front center. Short dinner dress (right) is in beige spun rayon and cotton. Brief bolero covers halter-top dress that can go dancing. It has low neckline filled in with pleated organdie.—By Gail Dugas, NEA Woman's Editor.

Best Cherry Pie Recipe

Harrisburg—Fresh cherry pies are now in heavy demand in Pennsylvania homes, hotels and restaurants as picking of the 1952 commercial crop of red sour cherries is under way in the Keystone State.

And experts claim that the cherry pie recipe that won this year's National Cherry Pie Baking Championship for Cumberland county's Leah Jane Witmer, 18-year-old Boiling Springs high school girl, makes a pie that "tops them all" for downright deliciousness.

Miss Witmer won the title in competition with entrants, from every other state with a recipe she had kept secret until the contest in Chicago on February 22, George Washington's birthday. According to contest judges it was the best cherry pie in America—and was made with Pennsylvania red hour pie cherries.

The State Department of Agriculture, following Federal-State surveys, estimates the commercial red sour cherry crop for this year will total 9,800 tons. This is second only to the all-time record production of 12,000 tons last year. Bulk of the big orchard crop will come from Adams and Erie counties. Picking started Monday in Adams county and will be under way about July 10 in Erie.

July Clearance Sale opens Friday, July 11th through 18th. Entire line of Famous Quality Dresses and Suits at drastic reductions. Large group of values to $35.00 to go for $15.99.

July 10-21

Requests for copies of Leah Witmer's national champion cherry pie recipe have been increasing as housewives find it makes a big hit with members of the family. The prize winning recipe follows:

Ingredients (Crust)
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
1 egg separated
1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/4 cup milk

Directions
Mix dry ingredients together. Add shortening and blend with a pastry blender, mix egg yolk, lemon juice and milk together by beating with a fork; stir this mixture into the dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Turn the dough onto a floured pastry cloth and while you make the cherry pie filling, invert a bowl over the dough, allow to stand for 10 minutes.

Then divide the dough in half. Roll one piece out and fit into the pie pan. Brush this crust completely with egg white; add cooled cherry filling. Roll out pastry for the top, making air vents in the center. Place the pastry over the filled crust. Trim off any surplus pastry. Flute the edges to seal. Bake in hot oven at 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Then reduce the temperature to 375 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes.

Ingredients (Filling)
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup cherry juice
1 No. 2 can and ½ cup cherries
1 tablespoon butter
4 drops red food coloring.

Directions
Place sugar, salt, cornstarch and cherry juice into a saucepan. Stir. Cook until it begins to boil rapidly. Then add drained cherries carefully, continue cooking gently until the desired thickness is reached. Remove from heat. Add butter and red food coloring. Cool.

Wholehearted Approval Given Arena Theatre's Initial Offering in Canteen

Summer theatre in Warren was inaugurated last night at the outh Canteen in the YMCA Annex, when a capacity audience watched the Arena Theatre presentation of the historic melodrama, "East Lynne". Every available seat was taken when, at 8:30, the curtain went up on the first offering of the new group.

The large and appreciative audience obviously enjoyed the show as it entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of the play and loudly issued and boomed the villain's sly and treacherous actions. Bill Hill, who played Sir Francis Levenson, the villain of the plot, with an uninhibited performance, was in the receiving end of the hissing and in the final minutes virtue triumphed over evil!

All members of the cast should receive mention for an excellent portrayal in the manner of the 1890's. Norma Haight was the heroine of the story and was also featured in one of the musical entr'actes.

Dick Mulhaupt did double duty, also, last night. One moment he was on stage as Lord Mount Severn, the next moment he casually moved to the piano to provide the musical accompaniment for the songs and background.

The audience was delighted with the dual performances of Dorothy Benson who undertook two roles. Dorothy showed great versatility as she was first Joyce, a French maid, and seconds later took the stage as Wilson, a kitchen servant.

The acting of Dr. Anita Uhl and Frank Mitch won repeated laughter from the audience. Dr. Uhl plays the part of Cornelia Carlyle, the hero's sharp-tongued sister, and Mr. Mitch is John Dill, a law clerk, who worships her.

Lois Byham again gave an outstanding performance for which she is well known in Players Club productions. As the socially-ambitious Emma Mount Severn, Lois was another who surprised the crowd with her singing as well as her acting.

Other members of the cast who played their parts to the hilt were Reid Carlson, the hero and owner of "East Lynne"; Ned Salerno, believed to be a murderer; Collette Mangus, Archibald's second wife; Linda Rea Berenfield, who portrays Little Willie; and Carol Ludwig, who helps capture the villain.

The play will continue tonight and tomorrow night and there will be tickets at the door, which opens at 7:30. The Arena Theatre director, Richard Rapp, meanwhile, is starting to cast the second play of the season, which will be presented in August.

Richard Rapp, director of the Arena Theater and a former professional actor himself, is commended for taking the classic play and streamlining it into a production suitable for 1952. Mr. Rapp was responsible for adding the music to the play and for giving "East Lynne" in the unique arena style. His many unusual bits of business in direction of the show gave the play a professional quality which should assure the success of the new organization in the years ahead.

MRS. GERALD A. HUBER

Married in Oil City on June 14, 1952, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Huber have returned from a honeymoon spent at Daytona Beach, Fla., and, after August 1st, will be at home to friends at 24 Buchanan street. Mr. Huber is employed by Warren National Bank; Mrs. Huber, girls' physical education teacher in Warren High for the past three years, will join the Beatty Junior High faculty this fall.

The bride is the former Ruth M. Bielenberg, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Bielenberg, Oil City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Huber, Titusville. They were married in a beautiful ceremony in Christ Lutheran church, Oil City, the Rev. Bielenberg giving his daughter in marriage and performing the ceremony. A reception followed immediately in the church parlors.

Comprising the bridal party were the bride's sister, Mrs. Walter Puterbaugh, Durham, N. C., as matron of honor; Bebe Sherman, Oil City, and Jean Spencer, Warren, as bridesmaids; James Huber, Titusville, best man for his brother; and the following ushers: Mr. Puterbaugh, of Durham; Albert Bielenberg, brother of the bride from Oil City; and Thomas Lowrie, Titusville.

PHC Election Is Meeting Highlight

A very successful meeting of Protected Home Circle members followed last night's tureen supper and included election of the following officers:

Past president, Anna Stigelmier; president, Evelyn Reese; vice president, Evelyn Reese; vice president, Sadie Lucie; guardian, Myrtle Howard; chaplain, Eleanor Gordon; secretary, Bertha King; treasurer, Mabel Walters; guide, Gilbert Howard; companion, Imogene Bonavita; sentinel, Mary Demol; watchman, Lena Larson; accountant, Bernice Myugren.

Plans were completed for a picnic to be held next Thursday, three until nine o'clock, in Crescent Park. All attending are asked to bring table service and a tureen, the lodge to provide ice cream, coffee, cream and sugar.

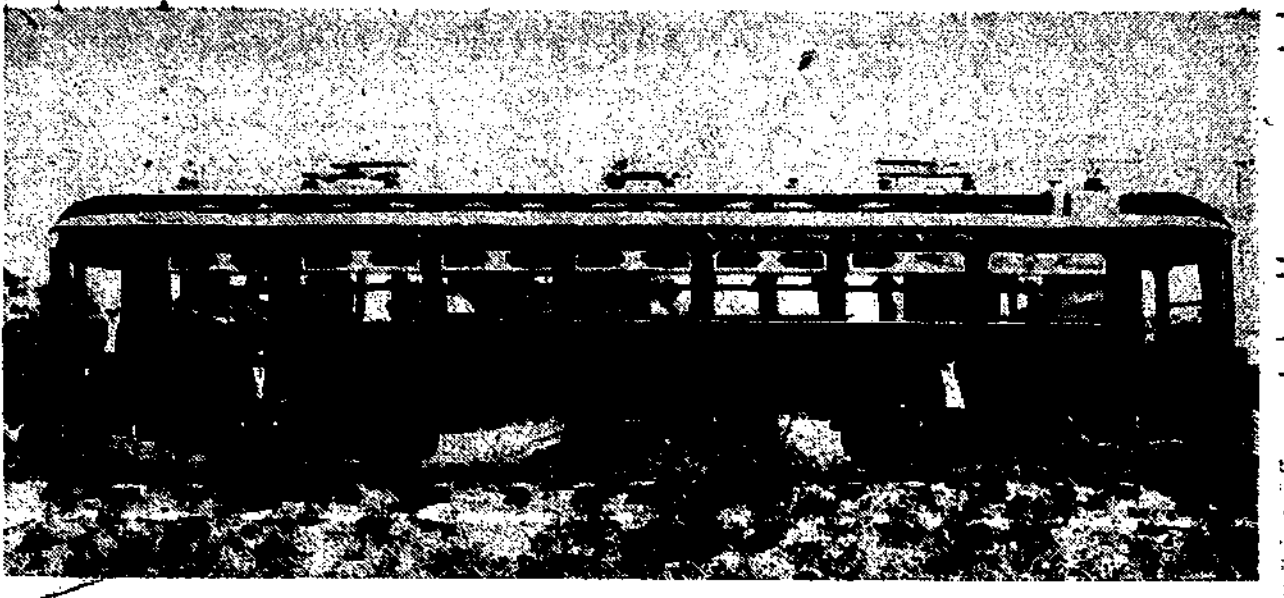

Obituaries

GEORGE LOUIS KLINE
George Louis Kline, who was familiarly known to a wide circle of friends as "Jeff" and made his home at the Exchange Hotel, died at 2:45 a. m. today in Warren General Hospital, where he was admitted on June 6. Born in Albany, N. Y., he would have been 78 years old had he lived until tomorrow.

Surviving are a sister and a brother, Mrs. Fred Olmstead, Wichita, Kans., and William J. Kline, Erie.

Mr. Kline was a well known painter for many years in and around Warren, but more recently had been custodian of the Warner Bros. Columbia theater. He was an active member of the Warren Lodge of Elks, and was one of the founders of the Thursday night bridge club. He was also a member of St. Joseph's church.

Friends will be received at the Gibson Funeral Home at the usual hours, beginning Saturday afternoon. The parish rosary will be recited at eight o'clock Sunday evening. Services will be held from St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock Monday morning, and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

VETERAN TROLLEY WORKERS TO PICNIC: Arrangements have been completed for the annual reunion and picnic of former employees of the Warren & Jamestown Street Railway Co., and the Warren Street Railway Company, to be held at Island Park, Youngsville, Sunday. A highlight of the event will be the usual basket picnic. Acceptances have been received from former trolley workers, including office women, from most points in Warren county and Jamestown, New York.

The old picture above shows the type of passenger car that was used on the Warren & Jamestown line which was abandoned December 2, 1929. Buses replaced trolleys on the city lines and North Warren line October 18, 1930, and the Warren-Sheffield line was suspended March 31, 1928.

Bible Words to Live by

ROMANS 8:28 is the verse.
"For we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them called according to His purpose."

For the reason that it affirms a positive philosophy of life, certified by every finding of human reasoning and underwritten by the promises of God. I found this the most difficult verse to accept, but once accepted, I find it the most reassuring, and after 50 years as a trusting Christian, I have never had one reason to doubt it.

Church Notes

AT BETHEL EUB

"Nothing Impossible With God" will be the sermon topic of Rev. Roger D. Morey at 11:00 a. m. Sunday in Bethel EUB church, when Mrs. Ethel Harriger will bring the special music. Sunday school is at 10:00 a. m.; evening service at 7:30, the pastor speaking on "A Life of Contrasts," and the council of administration meeting immediately afterward. Announcements for the coming week: Tuesday, 8:00, Brotherhood; Wednesday, 7:30, prayer meeting; and 8:30, choir practice.

YOUNGVILLE EUB

The Rev. Harold Lindquist, pastor of Youngville EUB church, announces the guest speaker for the 11:00 a. m. Sunday service will be the Rev. Antonio Rodriguez, pastor of the EUB church in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. He will also speak at the opening of the 10:00 a. m. church school period. Special music for the morning worship will be by a ladies' trio. Other services Sunday: Junior church and nursery, 11:00; Youth Hour, 6:30; Friendship service, 7:30, with gospel songs and choruses and evangelistic sermon by the pastor. Wednesday, at 7:30, Mrs. Laura Thompson will be in charge of the midweek service; Thursday evening, the Brotherhood will have a picnic and meeting.

FIRST BAPTIST

Sunday morning services in First Baptist church will open at 9:45 with church school. The special music for the 11:00 a. m. worship service will include a duet by Velma Mitchell and Katherine Libner. Organ music by Mrs. Carl Whipple will be "The Church's One Foundation" by Stults and "Waiting" by Harper. The Rev. Leland D. Hine will speak on the topic "A Point of Return."

FIRST LUTHERAN

The Rev. W. B. Clancy, superintendent of Bethesda Home at Meadville, will conduct the 11:00 a. m. service Sunday in First Lutheran church. Sunday school will meet at 9:45.

AT ST. PAUL'S

The Rev. Paul Setterholm, ordained at the recent meeting of synod in Des Moines, Iowa, will bring the morning message at St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday. Mrs. Emil Jacobson has chosen these organ numbers: Andante from "Third Organ Sonata" by Mendelssohn, "Isle of Dreams" by Torjussen, and "Devotion" by Schreiner, with Jack Haight singing "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte. There will be no vesper service.

FIRST METHODIST

Dr. Arthur Colley will preach on the sermon theme "Living in the Present" at the 11:00 o'clock service Sunday morning; Alfreda Laugerquist will sing "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way" by Effinger; Byron Swanson, director of music, will play the organ numbers. Church school will meet at 10:00 o'clock, with the adult classes in Dunham parlors.

REFORMED CHURCH

There will be no church service Sunday in Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, since the pastor is on vacation. Church school will be held at 10:45 a. m., however. On the following Sunday, July 20, guest preacher will be Dr. H. H. Barr, retired Methodist minister. Events of the coming week: Tuesday, 6:30, Emanuel Club tureen at the church; Thursday, 2:00, Ladies' Aid at the home of Mrs. Fra Stigelmier, 21 Swiss street.

RURAL LUTHERAN

"Fishers of Men" will be the sermon topic Sunday morning in Sheffield and Ludlow Lutheran churches. Other announcements: Bethany—Tuesday, 8:00, YWMS; Thursday, 2:30, Ladies' Aid. Moriah—Wednesday, 8:15, Lutheran Circle; Thursday, congregational picnic in the park, with supper at 6:00.

GRACE METHODIST

In the 11:00 a. m. service Sunday, Rev. C. W. Baldwin will use as his subject "Religion at Work." Special music will be by a trio, Diane Lord, Sally Reed and Robert Buchanan, singing "Consider and Hear Me" by Pfleger. Church school will be at 10:00 a. m., and the midweek service will be at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

PENNA. AVE. BAPTIST

"The Apostle Paul's Three Loves" will be the sermon topic of Dr. Charles Rytie, guest speaker. "Should a Christian Be Afraid?" will be the sermon topic for the 7:45 sermon. Sunday services will be the first meetings in the new location for what was formerly known as the Russell Street Baptist church.

LANDER METHODIST

Church school meets each Sunday at 10:00 a. m., with classes for all ages and parents welcome to accompany their children. At 11:00 a. m. Sunday, the Rev. Gustav Erickson will speak on "Christ Healing Broken Hearts" and the choir will have special music.

BETHLEHEM COVENANT

"Green Pastures" will be Pastor David Carlson's sermon subject for the 11 a. m. Sunday service at Bethlehem Covenant church, when Holy Communion will be observed. At 7:30 p. m., the message will be "Mirrors of Glory." Sunday school will meet at 10 a. m.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

"In Time of Trouble" will be Dr. Robert Steen's sermon topic at 11:00 a. m. Sunday in First Presbyterian church. The sacrament of infant baptism will be administered and parents wishing their children baptized should meet in the Sunday school room at 10:45. The choir will sing the anthem "The Lord Is Exalted" by West, and Robert Dietrich will sing the solo "Consider the Lilies" by John Prindle Scott. Stavroula Panos, at the organ, will play "First Movement of Sonata" by Rheinberger. Sunday school meets at 10:15.

"A Newspaper

Greatest Buy

in the World"

• BABSON SAID IT

"Too many readers accept their newspapers as a matter of course. Newspapers are, however, as important to their communities as are municipal conveniences and other services. Probably no single item would be missed more from our daily lives than our local newspapers."

"A newspaper is the greatest buy in the world. All newspapers, regardless of size, are highly educational. We all have a great stake in the business of advertising that we realize. Our papers not only give us the community news but the growth of our communities depends on the prosperity of our local newspapers."

"Successful manufacturers are carrying on a most sensible campaign of paid publicity with no chance new of getting their money back through immediate increased sales. I hope more local firms will take advantage of the opportunities to advertise which are afforded today. Yes, I am optimistic for advertising for those who stick to it 'rain or shine.' Sensible continuous advertising is the best investment there is."

"Newspapers are vastly more important to retailers, manufacturers and the community itself than merely increasing sales. All kinds of civic and social organizations rely on free notices of their activities. We all have a great stake in the business of advertising that we realize. Our papers not only give us the community news but the growth of our communities depends on the prosperity of our local newspapers."

FUN FOR SMALL FRY—West Berlin youngsters have a new, archlike structure to play on in the British sector. As they swarm over their plaything, they call it a "Luftbrücke," or air bridge. It may have been named by a parent who recalled the U. S. airlift.

FIERCE FAIN—Philadelphia first baseman Ferris Fain, left, stormed out to the mound as umpires Joe Paparella and Hank Soar lined up to stop a possible slugfest. For the second time, Fain was repeating his charge that Yankee relief pitcher Tom Morgan was trying to dust him off. At rear, during the game in New York, is A's outfielder Gus Zernial. No blows were struck and the game ended in victory for the A's with a 12-0 shutout.

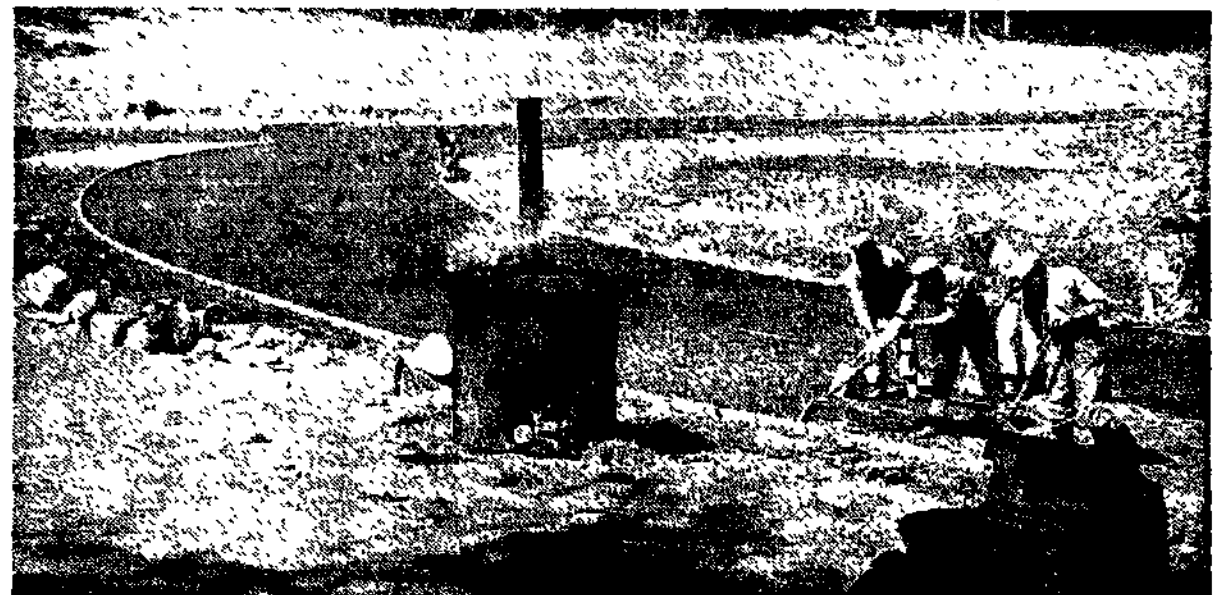

UNDER HER HAT—As she tries to keep cool on Miami Beach, Fla., Cathy Blakely peeks out from under that great big hat. When the sun isn't too warm, Cathy likes to increase her suntan, and if worst comes to the worst, she can always dash into the waves and cool off.

SHARE AND SHARE ALIKE—Rags, a canine mascot of fireman Ted LaPorte, is shown daintily nibbling on a bit of doughnut that LaPorte is sharing with him. After a fire in Chicago, the two of them stopped for a bite at a Salvation Army snack bar. They'd had a good workout, they were hungry, and Rags was as much entitled to a reward as anyone.

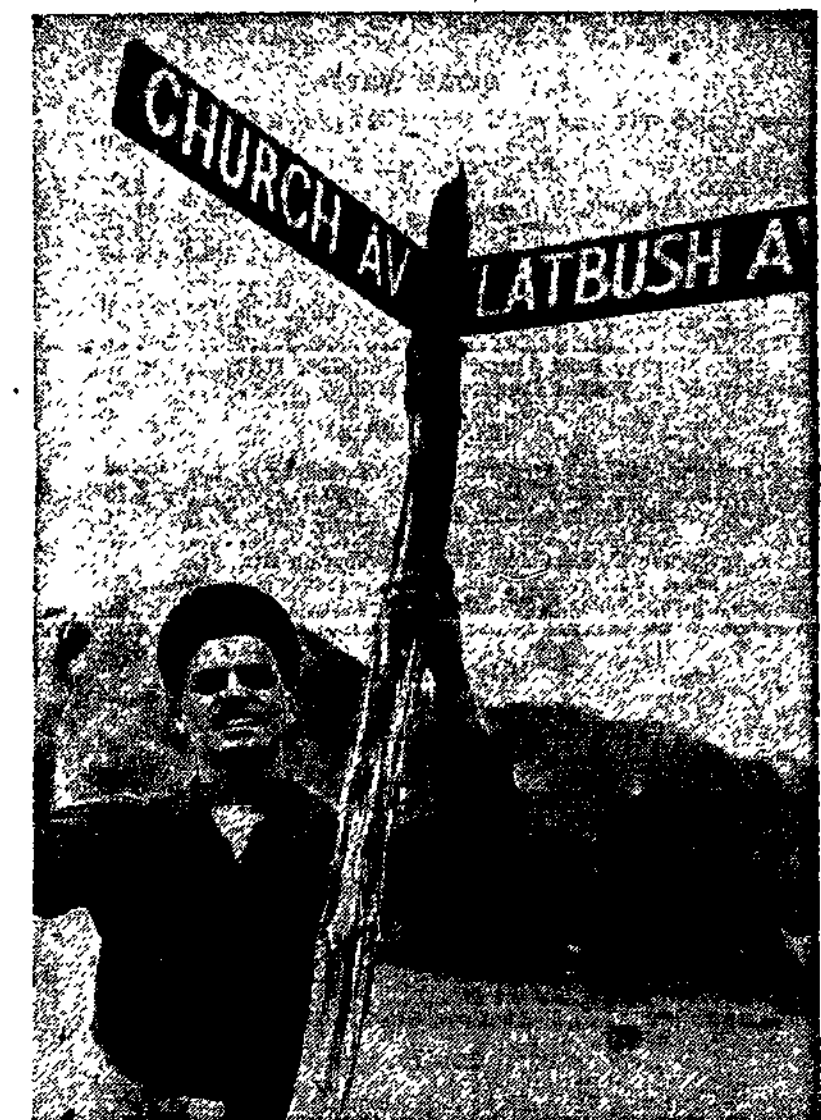

EVERY LITTLE BIT HELPS—Oyster shells are being used in Olympia, Wash., to help reclaim the gooey tidelands in the area. Bob Bower is shown operating a tractor at low tide in Mud Bay, compressing the shells into the soft ground to form a firm base.

FOR THE RUSSIANS—Workmen in Helsinki are filling in the surface of a training track on the grounds of a camp for the Russians and satellite nations who will participate in the 1952 Olympics. The area is normally used by students of the Helsinki Technical Institute.

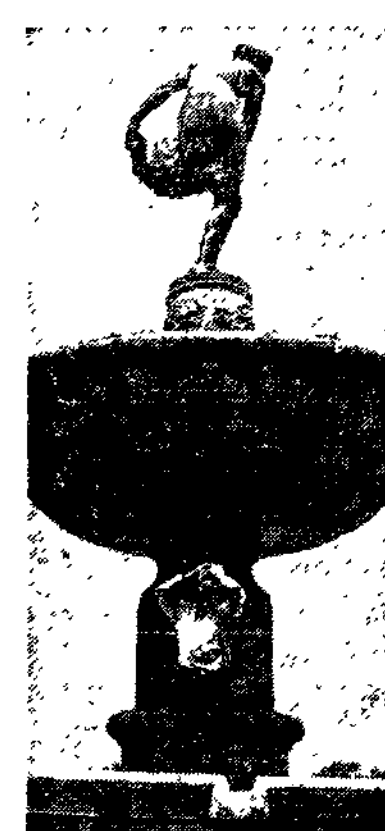

MOTHER OF INVENTION—Necessity made Gillian Richards put the tiny windshield on her Scottie's basket when they went riding on her motor scooter in London. The wind made the dog's eyes run, but now he can look around and enjoy the view as he travels.

BROOKLYN IN KOREA—When buddies of Pfc. Leonard Rand, of Brooklyn, told him they were sure there were no streets in his home town, Rand wrote an urgent letter. It was answered by John W. Cashmore, president of the Borough of Brooklyn, who sent a few street signs to be put up in Korea. Rand is with the 89th Tank Battalion, 25th Infantry Division. (U. S. Army Photo)

THEIR HANDY MAN—When youngsters sail their boats in the Tuilleries Gardens pool in Paris, mishaps sometimes occur and the playthings disappear under the water. When that happens, Lucien Fievet is on hand with his net to retrieve sunken yachts, steamers and vessels of all descriptions. It's needless to say that he's a popular guy with the kids.

DESPERATION—That's just what it was that caused this young New Yorker to dash into a public fountain fully dressed. As the city sweltered in a record-breaking heat wave, it might truthfully be said that millions of the city's residents envied him his ingenuity and courage. They also envied his comfort.

SCRAPING HER FOOD—Central Korea's worst crop failures in 70 years have forced people to remove bark from pine trees, and boil it for food. Here, an old woman scrapes the bark and puts it into the box that holds some of the precious, life-giving shavings.

Treasurer's Sale of Seated Lands for Taxes for the Year of 1950

In compliance with and by virtue of the authority vested in me as several acts of assembly, and specifically by the act approved May 19, 1931, P. L. 280, as amended by the act approved June 20, 1939, P. L. 198, and other amendatory acts, authorizing and empowering the county treasurer to sell at public sale all seated lands upon which taxes levied by authority of any county, borough, town, township, school district and poor district are delinquent and remain unpaid, and being penalties, etc., I will sell at public sale the following properties as hereinafter set forth.

The purpose of said sale is to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs thereon as the taxes are returned for the year 1950. Said sale will be held in Court Room 2, at the Court House in the Borough of Warren, Warren County, Pennsylvania, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 4, 1952, AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M., EDST

Terms of Sale: As soon as property is struck down, payment of the amount of purchase money, and part thereof as is necessary to pay taxes, penalties, interest and costs in each case, will be required from the purchaser. In event said amount is not paid forthwith after the property is struck down the sale will be void and the property immediately offered for sale again by the Treasurer. No bid will be accepted for less than taxes, penalty, interest and costs.

If a bid is in excess of said amount, the purchaser will be required to make and execute to said Treasurer for use of the persons entitled to a bond for the surplus money that may remain after satisfying and paying all the taxes and costs as aforesaid.

To all persons, owners, or reputed owners of property, terra tenants or any claiming an interest in the following described lots or tracts of land: You are hereby notified that your property situated in the borough of Warren as hereinafter described has been returned for non-payment of taxes for the year designated and unless such taxes and costs are paid on or before Monday, the 4th day of August 1952, at ten o'clock A. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, of said day, the said premises will be sold as above set forth.

Well-Known Wrestlers To Be Here For Kiwanis Event

HEAVIES' ARE BIG FEATURE IN PROGRAM

The sale of tickets for the Warren Kiwanis Club benefit wrestling exhibition program at War Memorial Field on the evening of July 13 is expected to take a pronounced spurt with the announcement of the names of some of the prominent grapplers who are to appear on the bill.

Every one of the men who will run and groan under the lights in two weeks from last night is a heavyweight, according to the sup. They come from Buffalo, Cleveland, Washington, and other wrestling centers. Here is the list: Joseph Moscato, 180 pounds, Buffalo.

Joe Sacco, 200 pounds.

Peter Greco, 185 pounds, Washington, D. C.

Walter Mikula, 230 pounds.

Philip Moscato, 195 pounds, Buffalo.

Horacio Fioriella, 185 pounds, Cleveland.

Arthur Staley, 240 pounds.

F. Leonard Mazerbo, 225 pounds.

All members of the Kiwanis Club have tickets, and a reservation chart is also located at the Metzger-Wright Co. store.

The Kiwanians decided upon the wrestling program as a means of raising the usual fund for their work with the underprivileged children's committee, and indications are that the innovation will give quite popular with their supporters.

The bouts will be staged on a stage that will be especially imported for the occasion. Flood lights will be installed. There will be reserved chairs and general admission seats in the bleachers.

This is the same type of wrestling exhibitions that have been attracting crowds of from 2,000 to 5,000 in such places as Celoron.

Old BB Managers Never Die; They Don't Even Fade Away

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Why is it that when the major league brass decides to change managers it usually bobs up with some old, broken-down bloke?

It could be a tacit admission that the one bowing out had done a pretty fair job with what he had after all.

But the truth is that the owners lack imagination to as great an extent in this department as they do in others.

Maybe they are afraid a new man might bring some new ideas with him, as did Paul Richards of the White Sox.

Anyway, 10 of the 16 big-league pilots have been given the sack from one to four times.

And Rogers Hornsby, who wound up with a three-year annuity for not managing the Browns, was fired for the first of five times 26 years ago.

Bob Carpenter of the Phillies surprisingly gave Steve O'Neill his fourth chance. So he is back, and with bright prospects, at 61.

When Tommy Holmes failed to win the popularity contest on the National League side in Boston, Lou Perini popped up with Charley Grimm, twice let go by the Cubs.

STANLEY RAYMOND HARRIS, four-time loser, goes with the lease in Washington, keeps bouncing back like an election repeater, has been there longer than the Democrats.

Branch Rickey had enough of Leo Durocher when Horace Stoneham sought permission to approach Burt Shotton. By way of getting off the hook, the then Brooklyn mahatma suggested The Lip, and the Giants' owner took him, so amazed was he.

When the Yankees grew weary of Joe McCarthy shuffling off to Buffalo, Joe Cronin gave him a ticket to Boston. When Marce Joe continued his disappearing act with the Red Sox, General Manager Cronin brought on another displaced manager in O'Neill.

Hank Greenberg decided Lou Boudreau couldn't handle the Cleveland pitchers, so Cronin immediately started prepping the shopworn shortstop to succeed the man who broke him in.

Marty Marion was summarily dismissed last winter by Fred Saigh and the Cardinals, but when Bill Veckel insisted upon running a circus instead of having Rogers Hornsby manage the Browns, the now part-time Mr. Shortstop joined the lodge.

Jamestown Beaten By Hamilton, 8-5

By The Associated Press

If the New York Yankees don't move pitcher Jack Dawson up from their Olean farm in the Class B ranks, they will be in trouble.

Park, Oil City, Rochester, Dunkirk, Gerry, Buffalo and other nearby places.

Officials for the matches will be announced later.

D. Pony League, it would appear their system is really loaded with talent.

Dawson won his 11th in a row last night, beating Cornell, 8-3, in the second game of a double-header at Oleon. The righthander's record is now 14-2.

Lefty Art Grenon hurled a fourth-hit shutout to win, 1-0, for Hornell in the seven-inning opener as the Dodgers pulled to within one game of league-leading Jamestown.

Righthander Gene Pami of Hamilton won his 10th decision in beating Jamestown, 8-5.

In other games, Bradford beat Batavia, 3-0, at Batavia, and Corning knocked off Wellsville, 10-2, at Corning.

Harrison Suffers Initial Defeat As Big Crowd Watches

The largest crowd of the season watched Bob Harrison hit "Unlucky 13" in the Industrial Softball loop on the West Side Field last night, when Phil Hook pitched one-hit ball to give him his first defeat after 12 straight wins.

The 5 to 2 victory also gave Thomas Coupling the top spot in the league over the first-half champs, Guiffre's Grocery.

Hook, a whirlwind type hurler, who just moved into the circuit from the Y-Church League, fanned 17 men in pitching his one-hitter and slammed out the only triple in the game.

Guiffre's drew first blood in the second inning with a lone tally and Harold Brown crossed the plate the second time for them in the fifth. The winners scattered their runs into three innings, pulling ahead in the fifth and adding two for insurance in the seventh.

A rally on the part of the loser's threatened in the ninth frame, when, with two out, W. Check attempted to score from third with Scalise on second, but was called out on a close play at the plate.

Cardinals Upsurge As Browns Carry 9 Game Losing Streak

By JOE REICHLER

The rival St. Louis clubs, under new managers, are going in opposite directions.

The Cardinals, led by firebrand Eddie Stanky, are riding 10-game winning streak and are making rapid strides in their effort to overtake Brooklyn and the New York Giants.

The Browns, slipped by mild-mannered Marty Marion, their second manager of the campaign, are in the throes of a nine-game losing string that threatens to drop them in the American League cellar.

Gerry Staley became the first National League pitcher to register a dozen victories when he pitched the Cardinals to a 10-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies last night. Third baseman Billy Johnson drive in four runs with a triple, double and single as the Cards drove All-Star hero Curt Simmons from the mound with a four-run first inning.

The victory moved the Cards to within eight games of the Dodgers and 3½ of the second place Giants.

All-Star winner Bob Rush of Chicago and no-hit Carl Erskine of Brooklyn were knocked out of the box in a 45-minute first inning as the Cards came from behind to nip the Dodgers 7-6. Gene Hermanski, ex-Dodger, collected three hits and drove in what proved to be the deciding run in a three-run fourth.

Jim Hearn, seeking his 10th win for the Giants, had a shutout as Pittsburgh came to bat in the last of the ninth, but the Pirates rapped him for four runs to force the game into overtime and won in the 12th, 6-4, when Gus Bell slammed a two-out, two-run homer off reliever George Spencer.

Roy McMillan singled in two runs in the eighth following a double error by second baseman Sibby Sisti to give the Reds a 5-3 victory over the Braves.

Through The Wind Tunnel

A beautiful vista spreads below you as you look out over Warren and the "Beantown" area from the top of McPherson street.

A sizeable building boom seems to have been started at quiet little Hickory. Any number of new homes have been built, others are in the process of construction. And several are being built along the road from Glade to Hickory. The new bridge and new strip of road at Hickory will make it a mighty attractive little community.

At 3:30 p. m. Friday, Scout Executive Rut Sanford had a list of 40 deserving boys over the county who would not see the big circus without help from someone. By 3:40 p. m. the Marconi club had accepted 20 of them as its guests and the Rotary Club will proudly entertain the other 20. That's Warren for you!

When the guys in Warren start yelling about there being no girls around and the girls complain about no boys, it's time someone made nomination speeches.

We're practically in on the ground floor of a brand new Jaycee Auxiliary project that promises to be fun for all concerned, but it's still in the planning stage and we can't breathe a word of it to our panting public. However, just keep in mind—if you want a paint job well done, leave it to a bunch of wimmin'!

More Eloquent Than Words!

It is true, of course, that a Cadillac owner is proud of everything about his motor car.

But it is also true that he reserves a special place in his heart for the beautiful crest that rides high on the hood.

For here, as only he can fully appreciate, is one of the most wonderful and unique symbols in all the world of manufactured products.

In fact, it seems safe to say that no other mark of identification speaks so clearly or so eloquently of the product that bears it... and of the man who owns it.

It tells, for instance, of magnificent engineering and inspired design—and of experienced craftsmanship and painstaking construction.

It promises mile after mile of superlative motoring enjoyment—and it foretells year after year of dependable and enduring performance.

It proclaims, in short, the Cadillac pledge of quality—that here is an automobile built to the highest standards it is practical to enforce in the production of a motor car.

And, oh, the wonderful things it says about the man behind the wheel!

It reveals, more surely than if the words were spoken, that he is a man of position and achievement in his own private world of affairs.

It attests to the high regard he places on the safety and the comfort of his fellow passengers.

And it says, with unmistakable clarity, that he is a person of discernment and good taste.

Little wonder that the man who owns a Cadillac takes special pride in the beautiful crest that identifies it and adorns it.

The Cadillac crest tells its most eloquent story when it adorns the magnificent car illustrated above. For here is the illustrious eight-passenger Cadillac "73"—so luxurious, spacious and distinguished that it stands alone among the world's motor cars.

Here Are Nominees and What Speakers Said About Them

Chicago (AP)—Here are the nominees and what the nominating speakers said about them: Sen. Robert A. Taft: "Mr. Taft, Mr. Republican, Mr. American... a religious man who will lead this great nation to a moral reawakening... rooted in the soil." By Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland.

Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota: "Has given the people of the state a progressive, humanitarian program... based on a concern for them and their well being... We believe that we are especially well qualified to judge what kind of a candidate is most electable on the national level." By Mrs. C. Edward Howard of Minnesota.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur: "One of nature's masterpieces... will not die and will not fade away... renowned in Occident and Orient... courage, loyalty and devotion to his country... invaded a conquered nation... and replaced an absolute autocracy with a government of the people... words can not add luster to that record." Fred L. Coogan of Oklahoma.

Gov. Earl Warren of California: "A man whose qualifications as an executive are of such magnitude as to warrant this convention setting him for the highest office in the land... to give our country an administration of honor and purpose in both domestic and foreign affairs." By Sen. William Knowland of California.

Reunion and Game Planned by Great Moose Team of 1938

That colossal Warren Moose Baseball Club of 1938, which can remember such great games as the defeat of the Pittsburgh Pirates when they were leading the National League, will have their chance to do some reminiscing when they hold a reunion sometime near the end of this month. Nick Croola and Freddie Gagliardi are co-chairmen for the affair.

For the reunion day the committee is planning a game for the '38 team with the pick of the present Sunset League, to be followed by a dinner at Steve Massa's camp at Chapman Dam. The game will be a benefit for the Hoffman Children's Home.

The Moose Semi-Pro team ended its 1938 season with a .679 percentage, 23 wins and 11 losses, and was managed by Gerry Archibald with Harry Mintzer, the captain.

So far the committee reports the following members able to attend: Elmo Wolfe, Harry Rosequist, Art Johnson, Steve Petrowski, Joe Brindis, Emmy Morrison, Harry Mintzer, Don Jeannerette, Diz Hines, Steve Massa, Joe Massa and Gerry Archibald. Still to be contacted are Joe Gilson, "Mac" Maury, Al Moore, Leo Petrucci and Gerry Gelgerich.

INTERESTING CIRCUS DISPLAY AT PENNEY'S

One of the most interesting window displays set up in connection with the coming of the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey's circus July 18 has been arranged at the J. C. Penney Co. store, where Myron Munson, of the south side, has set up an exhibit that contains more information than will be found anywhere. It presents a description of the circus, loading, pictures of wagons and a miniature train. There is a layout of the circus lot as well as the parking areas in the vicinity, including points of entry and exit. Also is shown a seat chart a study of which will enable the ticket holder to know exactly where to go when he enters the tent. Every person planning to attend the circus should take time to study this interesting display.

Strange Passage

By William Lynch

Chapter 25

THEY approached the valley upwind of it and made for a clump of burnt out gums that formed a tight knot at the end of a ridge.

Danny signalled his companion to load his rifle, and this being done, he produced the small, circular, perforated whistle and held it tightly against his pursed lips.

After a few irregular cadences, Danny said in a low whisper: "I've seen them come so close you could touch them. They can't resist a rabbit breakfast."

Gardiner nodded, but his thoughts were not for the fox in the hills but for another creature himself—tamed by fears, tortured by growing doubts, and starkly walking through a forest of decay and desolation.

How simple it would be to lower the rifle barrel until it pointed at the breast of the absurd whistle-blower—and lightly press the trigger! A single operation that could easily become an accident of the twilight, a thing that might happen to anybody.

"Keep your barrel up, Mr. Gardiner. He'll come that way—through the thicket. They're demons for finding cover."

Through the semi-gloom Danny's rifle slowly slanted down until it aimed at a point midway between Gardiner's eyes. Gardiner shivered with the new freshness of the dawn and turned his face away.

"Make sure of your first," Danny was whispering between short spells with the whistle. "You won't get two shots."

The subtle snapping of a twig came up to them from the base of the slope. It was so slight that only ears attuned to listening, and tensed nerves, would register it.

A sharp intake of breath on Danny's side drew the other's attention to the fox.

"Now!"

Danny fired, even as he spoke, flinching himself around the tree trunk and, almost flat to the ground in an attempt to shoot frontally.

The two shots rang out almost simultaneously and the fox leapt high, obviously hit; swerved in mid-air and came down in a ball of fur and taut muscles, shortly to disappear under the lip of the ridge.

line between Pyongyang and the battlefield.

For weeks, Allied pilots had been dropping leaflets warning civilians of the impending raids, a U. S. Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

Many of the targets, pin-pointed by photo intelligence, had been allowed to grow for months.

Bombs were dropped within a mile of a Red camp for U. N. war prisoners near. Pyongyang, but pilots were instructed to be especially careful near this camp and four others.

The strike at least equaled the size of last month's bombings of North Korean hydroelectric plants. Four hundred U. S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter bombers swarmed from land bases and from the U. S. aircraft carriers Princeton and Bon Homme Richard in a morning strike on Pyongyang. They were joined by planes from the British carrier HMS Ocean.

REMAINS CLOSED

Janet Cannon, general secretary of the YWCA, reports the scheduled reopening of the cafeteria has been postponed until August 4. Housecleaning is the order of the day throughout the activities and residence buildings, walls having been washed down in the cafeteria, the gym floor scrubbed and recoated, new linoleum laid in one of the dormitory rooms, and girls of the residence building painting the kitchen. Another project in prospect is the redecorating of the Y-Teen room in the activities building, a task to be undertaken at a later date.

Number of Ike's Friends Mussed Up in Excitement

In short it was a night when almost no Pennsylvania gave a medium size whoop about decorum.

There's nothing in the world like the "demonstrations" that traditionally follow nomination of a candidate for the presidency. And old convention hands said there never was a night of convention demonstrations like this one.

As expected in the wake of the Keystone State presidential lineup, most of the Pennsylvania delegates whooped it up loudest and longest in the Eisenhower show.

To most reporters, to the TV cameras, and to some of his delegates, Gov. John S. Fine was the most interesting study.

He was a very happy citizen indeed all evening, apparently secure in the belief that Pennsylvania would hold at least 51 votes for Eisenhower, which would leave 16 for Taft and three for MacArthur.

"What's the correct line of play on the accompanying hand?" asks a Cincinnati correspondent.

"It's easy to pick the best play when you see all four hands, but what I want is the line of play that the expert would adopt if he could see only his own hand and the dummy."

With an opening heart lead, South wins with the king of hearts and draws three rounds of trumps, discarding spades from the dummy. He should then cash the remaining top heart and lead a low club from his hand.

GARDINER flung himself wearily upon the strip of sand.

"It's my opinion that you came up here during the night and took the boat away. Where did you hide it?"

"Now, why'd I be wantin' to do such a silly thing?" He stood. "Maybe we'd better get goin'. Mrs. Gardiner, be wonderin' where you've got to."

"Is Melisande in this, too?"

"This what?"

"This conspiracy." Danny smiled.

"I dunno why you call it that. It's supposed to be your honey-moon, isn't it?"

Gardiner resumed, speaking more to himself.

"It's a conspiracy to break me up. You're it, too, Danny. You, Taylor, and G. know who else. Melisande, perhaps. Is Melisande part of it? That's something I'd like to know."

"It seems to me you've got a very vivid imagination," Danny said. "There's must be somethin' eatin' at your mind to make you talk like this. What is it?"

"Whatever the bunch of you are trying to do, you're only wasting your time. And you can pass the word on to Taylor. You can also tell him that we'll be leaving the cottage at once."

"At once?"

"Yes."

"Why, that's foolish, Gardiner. There's no way of gettin' out of here. You're as much a prisoner here as if you were in Long Bay. You might as well sit 'round and wait. You never know what might turn up."

"What?" He came to his feet. "And what could possibly—turn up?"

Danny rose, with him, stood facing him, his eyes unwavering.

"Come Friday there might be some more—mail—for you."

Gardiner wilted but soon recovered and began to walk homeward.

"What do you know about my mail, Danny?"

"Nothing. Except that when I went into the house for the whistle I saw your note. There must've been something in the mail to cause you to write that. Men don't

"There's nothing you can do to help him, ma'am. Not now."

"What's he done?"

"That's all I can tell you, ma'am. Except I'd like you to know you've got nothing to fear. A wounded fox always makes for a safe place. This place isn't safe for him now."

Melisande shrank back and stark fear was pin-pointed in her eyes.

"He's in some kind of trouble, Danny. I can see it in your face. We've got to help him!"

Danny was unmoved.

"There's only one solution for the kind of trouble he's in. Maybe he'll find it himself. That's what we're hopin' for, anyway. I'd hate you to get caught up in anythin', ma'am."

"Paul's my husband. I happen to love him. I can't be taking sides against him. That's something you'd better understand right now, Danny. But her face was pale and the pin-points of fear were still there."

"Who are you, anyway?"

"My name's Danny Sale."

"Sale? Katie's—father?"

"Yes."

"Then it's something about—Katie. What is it?"

"Maybe you'd better ask Gardiner."

"I will." She sat down weakly on the hammock. "John Taylor sent you down here, didn't he?"

"That's right."

"Fox huntin'. I'm an expert at it, ma'am. Mr. Taylor's got queer ideas about the technique of huntin' a fox. I don't altogether agree with him. But I promised I'd try it his way—first."

"You can drop the double talk, Danny. What's Paul done?"

Danny gently took the woman's arm.

"Thing I'd like you to do, ma'am, is get out of here as quick as you can. Your husband's headin' for bad trouble on 'n' you don't have to get caught up in it. If you stay here you're crazy."

"No, I'll stay with Paul."

The other shrugged and made to walk away. "You see, I don't share Mr. Taylor's feelin's about you. I'm not aimin' to protect anybody, least of all Gardiner's wife. I expect you're as much responsible as he is for what you didn't try to put a bullet through 'n' my gals."

ary Digest predicted that "horseless carriages" would never be as widely used as bicycles. Teddy Roosevelt was then President of the United States, and sent a message to Congress that year urging the construction of the Panama Canal. The Wright Brothers were experimenting with heavier-than-air flying machines, and Henry Ford had not yet perfected his first automobile. No license plates were required for the autos then traveling the dirt roads, and gasoline service stations, as we know them today, had not yet been dreamed of. In that year, 1902, the total production of crude oil in the United States amounted to 88,677,000 barrels, which is about what is produced in two weeks now.

the boost will go into effect July 21.

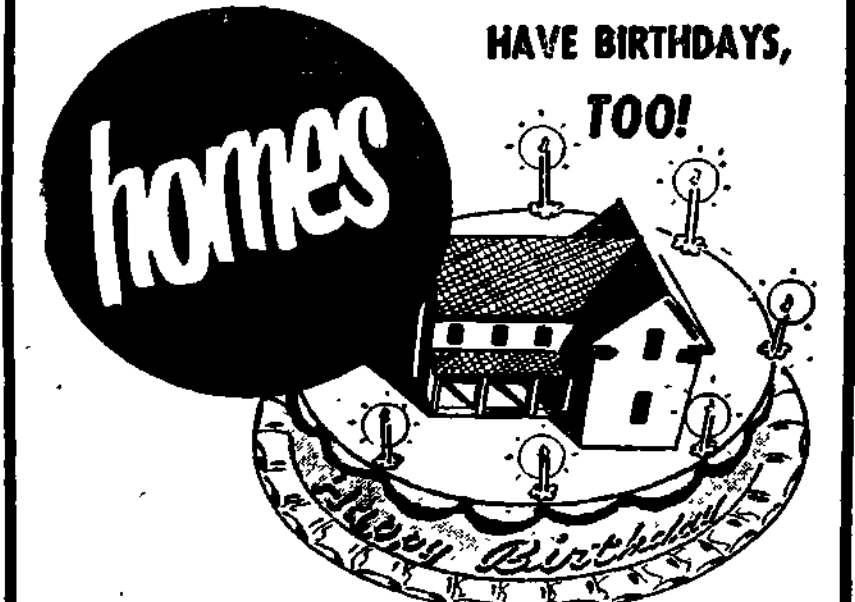

Industry sources are worried over possible shutdowns next winter because of a shortage of iron ore. About 23,000 iron ore miners quit in sympathy when the steelworkers struck June 2.

Iron ore shipments stopped soon afterwards on the Great Lakes.

In addition to the 600,000 idle steelworkers, nearly 600,000 other workers have been laid off in allied industries.

"My life saved by Kaiser's safety front seat"

Says Donald E. Holmes, of Coldwater, Mich.

Here's what happened:

Swerving desperately to avoid another car, Mr. Holmes crashed his '52 Kaiser head-on into a pole on U.S. Highway 112, Allen, Michigan, last May 27.

Yet he walked away from the wreck—unharmed! Why? Because the Kaiser's instrument panel was padded... no protruding knobs to injure him... and the windshield pushed outward in one piece! "In any other car I might have been killed!" Mr. Holmes writes.

This extra safety and extra value explain why thousands have switched to Kaiser. The car with the world's safest front seat! With America's lowest center of gravity! Largest glass area in any sedan! Easiest steering! Handsome "hardtop" styling at regular sedan prices! Mobilgas economy winner—24.6 miles a gallon! Drive a Kaiser, and you'll agree... it's your safest buy, today!

Our Great America ☆ by Woody

MICHAEL HAS THE LONGEST RECORD FOR NO ALLEY OF ANY STATE IN THE UNION, WITH PROTESTS ON LAKES SUPERIOR, MICHIGAN AND WISCONSIN. HE HAS BEEN CALLED "THE GREAT AMERICAN" BY THE PRESS AND THE PEOPLE.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A CONSTITUTION. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A BILL OF RIGHTS. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A PRESIDENT. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A SENATE. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A SUPREME COURT. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A JUDICIAL BRANCH. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A LEGISLATIVE BRANCH. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS AN EXECUTIVE BRANCH. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A FEDERAL GOVERNMENT. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A STATE GOVERNMENT. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A LOCAL GOVERNMENT. IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD THAT HAS A PEOPLE.

Good Farm Lawn Possible With Well Chosen Grasses

An Attractive Farm Lawn.

Every farm home owner would like to have an attractive lawn and ordinarily he can have one if he wants to make the necessary effort. The climate in most parts of the United States favors the growth of some kind of grass, and rainfall usually is adequate to maintain the use of a lawn even though it is sometimes insufficient for limited periods to promote the best growth. The farm home owner usually does not demand the fine-textured and expensive bentgrass sward of the golf course but he would like a uniform, vigorous turf that presents a good appearance under favorable growing conditions and withstands wear and drought.

Because farm lawns do not ordinarily have artificial irrigation, special attention should be given to the other factors necessary for a good lawn such as a good top soil 3 to 4 inches deep containing plenty of organic matter, adequate drainage so that proper aeration is obtained, a good well-fertilized seedbed and high quality seed of the right kinds. Avoid using any of the "cheap" lawn mixtures on the market. The best seed of adapted varieties always gives best results. Liberal fertilization at the time of sowing and frequently thereafter helps materially to make up for periods of short water supply. The grasses suitable for the permanent farm lawn must be those well adapted to the climate of the region. Species that require special care to survive should not be used. Kentucky bluegrass and red or chewing fescue are adapted for use over a large area in the northern and central states. Tall fescue, Alta or Ky 31, is probably one of the most suitable types to use where a close turf is not required. In the North it can be combined with Kentucky bluegrass and in the South with Bermudagrass. The Zoysias may be combined with any of the other adapted grasses in either region. In the sub-humid areas of the Great Plains some of the dry-land grasses such as buffalograss, crested wheatgrass and blue grama may be used.

The best time to sow grass seed in most of the Northern and Central States is in late summer or fall from August 15 to October 15, provided there is adequate moisture at time of sowing or soon afterwards. The seedbed should be prepared from 2 to 4 weeks before the seeding date so that the weeds may be killed by the final raking. Spring seedings sometimes bring fair results if completed before mid-April.

Farm lawns have certain advantages over city lawns. Farm manure is available and farm equipment can be used for thorough preparation of seedbed including weed eradication, drainage and grading, distributing fertilizer, sowing seed, and frequent mowing. Seed sown on most unfertilized soils usually fails entirely or produces a poor turf. An application of 40 pounds of a 5-10-5 fertilizer to each 1,000 square feet of lawn area gives good results. On very poor soils use up to double this amount. Holding in mind a few of these salient points, almost any farmer can have a good lawn to beautify his home surroundings.

INVESTMENT POLICY...
The investment policy of the leading INVESTMENT TRUST FUNDS places emphasis on the selection and ownership of stocks of companies which appear to offer good prospects for increases in earnings and dividends... emphasis is placed not on high immediate income but rather on seeking GROWTH of income over the years... the Funds thus seek that kind of income growth which normally accompanies an increase in principal value.
The essence of the Fund's investment policy is freedom of choice... this policy makes possible the use of a wide range of investments... it contemplates participation in the profitable development of new products, processes and services... it takes into account the profit opportunities in well-situated companies in certain older industries which are growing and are expanding the markets for their goods and services... it also seeks opportunities for profitable investment in companies in cyclical industries when their securities appear to be undervalued in price... there is therefore an open-minded approach as to the type of industry or company which constitutes an attractive investment for the Fund.

Here's a new way to get complete bathing convenience in small space
The RESTAL receptor bath by AMERICAN-Standard

• The Restal doubles as both a bath and a shower receptor. Only 38" x 39", it requires about the area of an ordinary shower stall. The 12" high fixture is easy to enter and leave... especially safe and convenient for elderly people. The Restal is made of sturdy cast iron smoothly coated with acid-resisting or regular enamel. Comes in white or five colors, in recess models with a left or right hand outlet. Ledgewood lavatory and Cadet water closet are also featured in this installation. See these budget-priced fixtures today!

Three Entrances To Youngsville Have New Markers

Youngsville—New markers are being set this week at the three entrances into town, North, East and West Main streets. In the form of the Wesleyan symbol, they bear the words: "Methodist Church, Youngsville, Pa." and are a gift from the Methodist Men, South Fellowship, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mead.

Rev. C. C. Ross officiated Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the commitment services of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fisher, who reside near Wrightsville on the Stony Run Road. It is hoped that Mrs. Fisher may return home from the Warren hospital on Friday.

After a trip into Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Richards returned to the states by way of Lansing, Mich., where they visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, and family, including their two weeks old daughter.

Vic Artico and Sherry Aberg are in Montreal, Canada, visiting Mr. Artico's relatives.

Thelma Crandall has returned to Edinboro State Teachers College after spending a few days at home.

Explorer Advisor Is Advanced in Rank

At the regular Board of Review of Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, held last evening in Warren Public Library, an Explorer Scout from Troop 2 and the advisor of that troop were advanced to the rank of Eagle Scout.

The Explorer Scout to be so honored was Jerry McConnell, son of Borough Manager and Mrs. L. M. McConnell, and the troop advisor was Richard H. Moll, who has been active in Scouting for 21 years. Young McConnell is the first Scout to receive this coveted award this year. Troop 2 is sponsored by Grace Methodist church.

Explorer Scout Tom Barlow of Post 5, sponsored by the Elks' Lodge, was advanced to the rank of Life Scout. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Barlow, 118 N. Irvine street.

Members of the Board of Review included W. M. Hill, chairman, Lewis G. Garber, I. R. Peters and C. M. Barlow.

MORE TV SETS FOR HOSPITAL—As a result of the cooperative efforts of the members of the Warren State Hospital Local No. 469, A.F.L., and the Warren-Bradford Musicians Local No. 84, A.F.L., in sponsoring the "Parade of Bands," at the hospital last May 20th, three television sets were presented last evening to Joseph Gardner, R. N., seated right, and Miss Harriet Morgan, director of nursing, center, for the entertainment of the patients at the institution. Seated, left is Ralph A'Harrab, president of the State Council. Standing, left to right are: James Blyler, president; Ernest Johnson, of Youngsville, past president; committeeman Jack Henry, and Lloyd VanTassel, of Local No. 469; Ray Arnold, Bradford, secretary; and Ford Winner, also representing Local 84. Saverio Pascuzzi, better known as "Little Civics," president of Local 84, of Bradford, was unable to be present because of a business engagement.

Relatives of Area Residents in Crash

Injured in an automobile accident on Wednesday night, six members of an Erie family are still in Brown Memorial Hospital in Conneaut, O., three of them in critical condition, according to a check with that institution early today.

Warren; her husband, aged 43; and their three year old son, "Buddy". Three other children in the hospital are Erna, 6, and Franklin, 8, who may be discharged some time today; and Allora, aged 5.

Traveling on Route 221 at Amboy, three miles west of Conneaut, the Rogers family car skidded and struck a group of trees just off the highway. So far as is known, no other vehicle was involved in the crash.
